Takako : Why did you choose Japanese?

Mr. Wilson : One of my friends at school was from Japan and he showed me some pictures of old towns in Japan. After that, I decided to study Japanese.

Takako : And now you are here in Japan.

Mr. Wilson : Yes. I really like to visit old towns in Japan.

Takako : Really? If you like old towns, Kyoto is a good place to visit.

Mr. Wilson : I'm going there this summer. By the way, you are learning English now, but are there any other languages you want to learn, Takako?

Takako : Well, I want to learn Chinese in the future.

Mr. Wilson : Oh, why is that?

Takako : A lot of people speak Chinese, so I want to be able to talk with more people.

Mr. Wilson : I see. You can do a lot of great things if you can speak other languages. Good luck.

Look at No. 7.

Listen to the speech of a junior high school student, Keiko, and choose the best answer for questions 1, 2 and 3.

Let's start.

I love my town. It has a lot of mountains and rivers and many people come here on vacation.

But my town has changed a lot. I wanted to know more about the changes in my town, so I decided to learn about those changes during summer vacation. First, I went to the library. I found an old map of my town there, but I didn't know the names of the buildings on the map.

I showed the map to my mother. She said there was an old department store in our town thirty years ago. When she was a child, she often went shopping there with her family. But it closed, and we have a hospital there now. Last month, a new convenience store opened across the road from the hospital. My mother sometimes feels sad because the department store closed, but she is glad that there is a hospital near my house.

But there are things that have not changed in my town, too. The mountains and the rivers are still beautiful. We still have traditional festivals and food and the people in my town are still kind, too. I love my parents, my friends and all the people around me. They make my town special. My town will keep changing, but I hope that the warm hearts of the people in my town will never change.

Question 1 : Why did Keiko decide to learn about the changes in her town?

Question 2 : After the department store closed, what was built in its place?

Question 3 : What does Keiko hope?

(スピーチと質問を繰り返します。)
